

SLAUGHTER AT MANILA

Americans and Philippines Have a Collision.

THE LATTER GET MUCH THE WORST OF THE CONFLICT.

Washington, Feb. 6—[Special]—The following cablegram was received from Admiral Dewey this morning:

Manila, Feb. 6—The insurgents have attacked Manila. The Boston leaves today for Iloilo to relieve the Baltimore, which will return to Manila.

Two men were wounded yesterday on the Monadnock, one seriously.

It is believed this cablegram left Manila over twelve hours later than any that has hitherto been published, and the officials understand from it that the insurgents have again attacked Manila in force, and are pursuing an aggressive policy, having brought up their force from behind. Nobody at the department, however, feels alarmed over it.

Washington, Feb. 6—Special—Gen. Otis' latest report shows that thirty-five were killed or missing as the result of the battle. Thirty were killed in action, two died of wounds. Two are missing; and Colonel Smith, of the First Tennessee, dropped dead during the action. Gen. Otis gives forty names in the list of wounded. It is presumed he sent only the names of the men seriously hurt. The Fourteenth Infantry suffered heavily, losing ten men killed.

Washington Opinion.

Washington, Feb. 6—[Special]—Naval officers are satisfied that Admiral Dewey means that the scene of the insurgents' attack will be transferred from the outposts to the city itself. He has twenty-one vessels from which he can land fifteen hundred seasoned riflemen, if General Otis needs them. He can also land rapid firing gatling-maxim guns with their well drilled crew. His smaller gunboats can ascend the Pasagege river and penetrate the insurgent lines. The exchange of the Boston and Baltimore is thought to indicate that Admiral Dewey considers the situation serious, as the Boston's machinery is not in good condition. Moreover the Baltimore has a large landing force and greater rapid fire batteries. An emphatic conviction is expressed that the insurgents will be easily beaten back.

Senator Spooner's Views.

Washington, Feb. 6—[Special]—In speaking of the conflict at Manila yesterday Senator Spooner said: "Since the wanton sacrifice of American lives and the unprovoked attack on our position at Manila, there is but one alternative left. Our army must now proceed to subjugate the insurgent force and take the territory they now hold, so as to give us a status in the Philippines. There is no question in my mind that the delay in ratifying the treaty is responsible for the calamity at Manila. The latest developments in the Philippines will have the effect of securing the immediate ratification of the treaty.

"The Filipinos were advised from this city of the fact that the treaty was to be voted on, and in their dense ignorance believed an attack on our forces would help their cause. In this they were mistaken, and their attack will have a contrary effect."

Insurgent Plans.

Hong Kong, Feb. 6—[Special]—The Philippino junta here are greatly excited over the fight at Manila. They claim the Americans began the attack. The Philippines now realize that the fight is on in earnest. The chief endeavor of the insurgents will be to prevent the arrival of American reinforcements. The piratical Sulu islanders will make ready their small vessels and try to waylay the unarmed American transports and provision ships. The junta members claim Aguinaldo is able to equip ninety thousand men, selecting them from treble that number of volunteers.

Agoncillo's Flight.

Rouse's Point, N. Y., Feb. 6—[Special]—Agoncillo passed through here this morning enroute for Canada. No effort was made to detain him.

Montreal, Feb. 6—[Special]—Agoncillo arrived here this morning and went immediately to a hotel.

In Full Retreat.

Manila, Feb. 6—[Special]—The insurgents are still retreating, and the Americans following them up closely.

JUDGE GILSON WILL NOT RUM

DECLINES TO BE A CANDIDATE FOR SUPREME BENCH.

Will Not Enter Upon a Contest For a Judicial Office—The Field Is Clear For Judge Dodge As the Successor of S. U. Pinney, Resigned.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Feb. 6—Judge Gilson will not be a candidate for a seat on the state supreme bench in opposition to Justice Dodge, who was appointed to fill out the unexpired term of Justice Pinney, resigned, and who will stand for election in April. Justice Cassidy, whose term expires this year, will be re-elected without opposition and Judge Gilson's refusal to be a candidate against Justice Dodge leaves the field clear for the latter's election. In response to an inquiry from a reporter of The Milwaukee Sentinel Judge Gilson yesterday said:

"I do not expect to be a candidate for justice of the supreme court at the spring election.

"The impression to the contrary which seems to prevail to some extent in the state must have been inferred from statements of some of my friends in expressing the wish that I might become a candidate. Numerous and urgent requests to this effect have been received.

"A year ago I declined to seek a reelection as circuit judge and I am not disposed now to enter into a struggle for a place on the supreme bench.

"If considered necessary to put all agitation on this subject at rest so far as I am concerned, you may say that under no circumstance will I be a candidate in opposition to Judge Dodge.

"Of course, the long, faithful and eminent services of Chief Justice Cassidy will be recognized by his unanimous re-election."

KILLED IN A COLLISION

Disastrous Railroad Accident at Imlay City, Mich., Resulting in Death.

Imlay City, Mich., Feb. 6—[Special]—Two passenger trains collided here this morning resulting in the death of three men. Four were seriously injured.

FORECAST OF WEATHER

Chicago, Feb. 6—[Special]—Forecast for Wisconsin:

Partly cloudy tonight; Tuesday probably snow.

FIGHT TO GO ON.

Plans Laid at Cabinet Meeting to Crush Aguinaldo.

Washington, Feb. 6—Instructions will be sent to Maj. Gen. Otis directing him to follow up his victory over the insurgents and to crush the power of Aguinaldo in the Philippines.

This was the decision reached at an important cabinet meeting held in the white house last night, attended by the president, Secretary Hay, Secretary Alger and Attorney-General Griggs and Adj.-Gen. Corbin.

It was further decided, now that Aguinaldo has thrown the gauntlet, that Iloilo shall be taken and the islands of the archipelago occupied as rapidly as possible and to the extent that Gen. Otis' forces will permit.

Agoncillo Has Fled to Canada.

Washington, Feb. 6—Agoncillo has fled from the United States and is probably by this time in Canada, although some of his associates say he has only left Washington for Baltimore. It is positively known here, however, that he engaged transportation to Canada Friday night, shortly after he had fled at the state department a message exceedingly saucy in its tone, bearing on Filipino matters. Agoncillo left Washington Sunday evening, but whether he had some advance information about the hostile attitude of his countrymen in the Philippines is not known.

No More Ships Needed.

New York, Feb. 6—Commodore Phillips, in command of the Brooklyn navy yards, was deeply interested in the announcement that the insurgents had attacked the city of Manila. He said: "The navy cannot possibly take part in such a fight, except to shell the outlying forces of the insurgents, and we already have ample ships there for that purpose. What is needed is land forces, and with the troops already there and those that are on their way, I do not think that there should be any trouble in quelling the disturbances."

Entire Army Engaged.

Washington, Feb. 6—Adj.-Gen. Corbin, after reading the dispatches from Manila, expressed the opinion that practically all of the troops now there were engaged in Saturday's conflict. From a general knowledge of the location of the American troops and with the aid of a military map, he believed that the men were stretched out in a line that extended probably fourteen miles to the north; east and south of the city. Confronting them were the insurgent outposts and strongholds.

COUNT CAPRIVI DIED THIS MORNING

SUCCEEDED BISMARCK AS CHANCELLOR.

Was Distinguished as a Naval and Military Officer, and Did Much For His Country—Labored Assiduously To Improve and Strengthen the German Army.

Berlin, Feb. 6—[Special]—Ex-Chancellor Caprivi, of the German empire, died this morning at Skiren, Prussia.

He was born at Charlottenburg on the 24th of February, 1831, and was educated at Berlin, and in 1849 entered the army, becoming a second lieutenant in the succeeding year. He rose rapidly in rank, and in 1884 was made chief of the admiralty, and set himself to work reorganizing the German navy. For his services in this direction he was promoted to be commanding general of the tenth army corps in Hanover, and a short time afterwards was made a full general of infantry. On the retirement of Bismarck in 1890 Caprivi succeeded him as imperial chancellor, Prussian minister-president, and minister of foreign affairs. He devoted himself assiduously to improving the condition and increasing the strength of the army. In 1891 he was made a count by the emperor.

ALGERIANS RIOTING

Rochefort's Arrival Precipitates Public Disturbances of a Serious Character.

Algiers, Feb. 6—[Special]—In view of the disorders which occurred upon the occasion of the arrival here of Henri Rochefort, the governor general has issued orders forbidding all public meetings. It is feared serious disturbances will break out.

TREATY MAKING POWER

Mr. Grow Proposes to Place it Solely in the Hands of the President.

Washington, Feb. 6—[Special]—In the house today Mr. Snow, of Pennsylvania, offered a joint resolution providing that the treaty making power be vested in the president.

PROCEED AGAINST P. L. MYERS

City Begins Case to Collect License Fee On the Theatre.

Legal proceedings were begun today against Peter L. Myers, by the city, on the charge that Mr. Myers had not paid the theatrical license as required by the city charter—$10 for each performance, according to the notice served on Mr. Myers by City Clerk Badger.

"We play about 70 engagements a year," said Mr. Myers today. "That would mean that we pay the city $700 license. Chicago only charges $500 a year, and they do probably a million dollars worth of business annually. I tried to get the council to fix a license, but the committee refused. I will pay what any other city charges, or from $25 to $100 per year, but if the city insists on $10 for each performance, I will have to close the house."

The case in court was adjourned until Thursday morning.

BURKE NOW IN MILWAUKEE

The El Caney Hero Left Janesville Last Saturday Noon

John C. Burke, the young man who was shot in the lung at the battle of El Caney, an account which has been in the columns of The Gazette, is in all probability now visiting in Milwaukee. John McKeivitt, who runs a boarding house on North Main street and with whom Burke has been boarding, learned this noon that the soldier boy left Janesville on the north bound passenger train Saturday and that he got off at Jefferson Junction saying that he was bound for Milwaukee.

Burke's sudden disappearance from here without even letting anybody know that he was going caused many to worry. Before coming here he received medical treatment in the Cream City.

That Bargain Table.

We have been talking real hard about this lot of grocery bargains we have placed on our bargain counter and they are well worth all the investigating that economical buyers can give them. The packages are a trifle soiled or damaged, but the inside is as good as the best. We will not carry goods that look badly, and therefore the below cost prices. Look up the list on page 8. Sanborn.

They Will Not Give Up.

Troy, N. Y., Feb. 6—In an interview here, Felipe Agoncillo, who is on the way to Canada, said: "If the Americans attempt to conquer the Philippines it will take them at least ten years, and even then it would not be conquered in heart. They will never be conquered. They will be constantly rising to gain their independence."

TREATY IS RATIFIED

Senate Gives it a Majority of Three Today.

ALLEN OF NEBRASKA SWITCHED TO ITS SUPPORT.

Washington, Feb. 6—Special—The peace treaty between the United States and Spain was ratified today by three majority. It surrenders all right to govern Cuba, the Philippine Islands and Porto Rico, the latter to become an American possession and the United States to assume protectorates in Cuba and the Philippines.

Washington, Feb. 6—Special—When the senate convened today the galleries were packed and probably a thousand persons were turned away. All were anxious to hear the final debate on the treaty.

Mr. Allen's resolution demanding the same treatment of the Filipinos as had been accorded the Cubans was called up and Mr. Allen began his speech. He stated at the outset that he would vote for the ratification of the treaty. He disclaimed that he represented Bryan in the position taken on the question. After explaining that the ratification of the treaty and territorial expansion were different things Mr. Allen eulogized the American soldiers and sailors at Manila and referred to the fight between the Americans and Filipinos as an additional argument for ratifying the treaty.

Germans Furnished Arms.

Washington, Feb. 6—[Special]—A prominent government official is authority for the statement that German agencies have largely supplied the Philippines with arms. It is said three thousand stands of ammunition were secured in Hong Kong for Aguinaldo by a German firm, and that the German consular agent there was instrumental in effecting the purchase.

Losses Are Heavy.

Manila, Feb. 6—[Special]—The rebel losses in Saturday's and Sunday's battle are estimated at four thousand. The American loss was forty killed and a hundred and fifty wounded according to the latest reports. The number of American troops engaged was thirteen thousand; of the Filipinos, twenty thousand.

Madrid Rejoices.

Madrid, Feb. 6—Special—Local newspapers without exception are rejoicing over the outbreak of hostilities at Manila and express delight that the Americans are "getting what they deserve."

Deaths At Manila.

Washington, Feb. 6—[Special]—Gen. Otis reports twelve deaths among the troops in the Philippines since January 28. Private Albert Alston of the Thirteenth Minnesota, is one of the dead.

Merely Supposititious.

Washington, Feb. 6—Special—Army officials are all inclined to believe that Dewey's cablegram of this morning means that the insurgents attacked Manila a second time.

Dewey's Threat.

London, Feb. 6—[Special]—A dispatch says Dewey sent word to Aguinaldo that if accidentally the insurgents should enter Manila he would reduce it to ashes.

Not Firing Today.

Manila, Feb. 6—[Special]—There was some firing to the north of the city early this morning, but the general engagement practically ended Sunday afternoon.

Details of the Battle

Manila, Feb. 6—The insurgents attacked Manila Saturday night, the firing beginning shortly after 8 o'clock and lasting until broad daylight, when it slackened for a time, but was resumed and lasted all day. The fighting was tremendously hard at times, American warships participating from the bay. The insurgents were repulsed with heavy loss from their first positions, but rallied in new ones.

The ill feeling on the part of the insurgent forces has been manifest for some days. Though there is still firing at points beyond the positions which the insurgents occupied at the beginning of hostilities and from which they were driven by the splendid charges of the American troops, the fighting seems practically over. After this lesson it is hoped the Filipinos will accept the fact that the Americans are in earnest in maintaining their supremacy.

WORDS OF WISDOM FROM THE PULPITS

REV. MR. HALL DISCOURSES UPON IMPORTANT WORDS.

Those That Have Stirred the World to Higher Endeavor and Greater Excellence—Deeds of the Tongue—Rev. Mr. Kempton Speaks of the Diversity of God's Workings.

Yesterday morning, at Court street M. E. church, Rev. Walter A. Hall preached to a large congregation, on "Words." He said in part: "The Words of My Mouth." Why that expression? Why did not the Psalmist simply say "Words," and have done with it? Did he balance phrase against phrase, "The Words of My Mouth" and the Meditations of My Heart," simply for effect, or is that first clause a vessel full to the brim with meaning? I believe that every word of the phrase counts. There are certainly other words than those of the mouth. First there are the words of the printed page. The most thorough investigation, the profoundest and a cutest thinking, the richest imaginings of the ages are caught, held and revealed in clear amber of literature. Shakespeare lived, wrought, died, and has been obliterated. No indeed! He wrote. His words stir thought and feeling, and reveal human nature to human nature a thousandfold more widely than when he lived. All that we know of the historical Christ is in words—his own words, and words concerning him. The words of the printed page have shouldered advancing civilization, and are carrying it Godward. But there are other words than those of literature, and of the mouth. There are words of the mind. Your thought processes are carried on largely or wholly by means of words. Look now into your own mind. You are saying, "Is That So?" and you put the question in words, or you are saying, "It is not so," and you put that statement into words, illustrating within your own breast the truth of my statement. A man comes into a car. He spreads himself and his belongings elaborately over two whole seats. A lady soon follows. In her left arm is a babe. Her left hand holds a small satchel, her right a large valise. The car is full. She is weary, and the lines are drawn deep in her pale face. The man looks ahead with complete indifference. The car of people look at him, and say not a word of mouth yet they are speaking and very loudly, they are saying within themselves "hog." We reason in words. We connect words with all objects and properties. But the word within does no harm or good to others. Spoken it is a bullet fired. It cannot be recalled. Mr. Hall said that words are deeds of the tongue. They are truly and wonderfully patient for good or evil.

DIVERSITY IN GOD'S WORKINGS.

Sermon by Rev. Mr. Kempton at the Baptist Church.

At the Baptist church Rev. Mr. Kempton gave an eloquent sermon on the subject, "Diversity in God's Workings." His text was in 1 Cor. 12-6. There is unity in diversity. God is working in a thousand different ways to bring his people to himself. This thought makes us brothers. God works in different ways with different people. A failure to understand this has led to persecutions. God does not convert all men in the same way. No two of us have the same experience. How diverse is the working of God in nature? No two leaves of the trees, no clouds of the sky are just alike. Among all the faces of the human family no two are just alike. There are different sides or views of truth. Men see the moon at different times and to each one it is different, and still another can not see it at all. So it is in looking at truth. The light upon truth is different, as the light upon the moon is different at different times. We are not led to see God, all in the same way. Let us not think that all men must learn to love God in just the same way. Let us not set up our standard and try to bring God to our own way of thinking. This way of thinking has kept many out of the kingdom.

If you cannot understand or believe all the doctrines brought before you, let them go, and cling to Jesus Christ. Let God lead you, and even if it is in a different way from all other experience, you may be sure that he leads you aright.

THE LORD'S LAST MESSAGE.

Elder Reed's Discourse at Corn Exchange Hall Last Evening.

Mr. Reed's text was Rev. 18:1-4. This scripture points out a terrible condition of the religious world. As the belief in spiritual manifestations is accepted by the religious bodies which constitute Babylon, the door is open to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils, and thus the influence of evil angels will be felt in the churches. But God has a people in Babylon, and before the pouring out of the seven Last Plagues, these faithful ones must be called out; hence the words: "Come Out of Her, My People." The angel comes down from heaven, having great power, lighting the earth with his glory, and crying mightily with a strong voice, announcing the sins of Babylon. These announcements, uniting with the third angel's message, constitute the final warning to be given to the inhabitants of the earth.

The subject for tonight is "The Seven Last Plagues." These plagues, the generation now living will witness. The invitation to come and hear is general.

Much Ado About Nothing.

The photograph has before now been brought into requisition with more or less success to prove that the president of the French republic had been remiss in some minor matter of dress or etiquette on important state occasions. A certain portion of the French press seems to delight particularly in thus convicting M. Faure. The Gaulois now proclaims that on the first day of the recent maneuvers, M. Faure, as is shown indisputably by photographs, appeared on horseback most correctly garbed except that he had his field glasses slung on his left side instead of his right. According to this authority only arms should be carried on the left side. Several persons noted this shocking breach. The Duke of Connaught is said to have turned his monocle toward the president's left side with vague and uneasy surprise. In the evening one of his friends approached him confidentially, and the next morning he appeared with the field glass slung on his right side.

The Red and the Yellow Seas.

The ocean is not always "true blue" in color. The red tracts, which are probably caused by animals related to the "Chlo borealis" and "Limacina articulata" (the food of the whales), are found in the Southern Atlantic, where the influence is felt of cold currents from Cape Horn. It is remarkable that no reference is made in any log to the appearance of red tracts in the neighborhood of Cape Horn. The yellow tracts are generally ascribed by captains to pollen or floating watering plants.

Tobacco Sales.

Sales of seed leaf tobacco reported by J. S. Gans' Son, tobacco brokers, No. 128 Water street, New York, for the week ending February 6, 1899. 450 cases, crop of 1897, Wisconsin Seed, at 5 to 5 1/2 cents; Binders at 9 to 9 1/2 cents; tops at 10 to 12 cents. 250 cases, crop of 1898, Wisconsin, at 11 to 11 1/2 cents. 120 cases, crop of 1898, New England Havana Seed, spotted, at 30 to 40 cents. 110 cases, crop of 1897, New England Havana Seed, at 10 to 12 1/2 cents. 50 cases, crop of 1896, New England Havana Seed, at 30 to 40 cents. 100 cases, crop of 1897, Onondagas, at 11 1/2 to 12 1/2 cents. 50 cases, crop of 1897, Flats, at 16 1/2 to 18 1/2 cents. 130 cases, crop of 1898, Pennsylvania Seed Leaf, at 13 cents. 150 cases, crop of 1898, Pennsylvania Seed Leaf, at 12 to 12 1/2 cents. 120 cases, crop of 1897, Pennsylvania Seed Leaf, at 11 1/2 to 12 cents. 200 cases, crop of 1897, Zimmers, at 16 1/2 to 17 1/2 cents. 50 cases, crop of 1897, Dutch, at 15 1/2 cents. 100 cases, crop of 1897, Gebhardts, at 14 to 14 1/2 cents. ABRAHAM LINCOLN ABLY DISCUSSED

INTERESTING SERVICES HELD AT UNITARIAN CHURCH.

Rev. Mr. Wilson Was the Speaker, and He Handled His Topic With Ability and Eloquence—Other Numbers on the Program Were Well Received.

At All Souls' church last evening, Rev. A. G. Wilson, of Decorah, Iowa, delivered a very impressive lecture on "Abraham Lincoln," and those present enjoyed a rare treat in listening to his discourse, in which he paid a glowing tribute to the memory of the immortal Lincoln, in observance of the ninety-first anniversary of his birth.

At 7:00 o'clock, the ladies of the Woman's Relief Corps, and members of the G. A. R., marched into the place of worship, and were very attentive listeners throughout the entire service, and judging from the attentiveness of the entire congregation, it was proof that Mr. Wilson's discourse was well received and enjoyed by all.

The meeting opened with music by the orchestra, the members of which played "Rally Round the Flag," and other patriotic airs, which kindled the fire of patriotism in the hearts of those present. Rev. Mr. Wilson then led in prayer, after which he read a very appropriate selection from Theodore Parker's work, entitled: "The Highest Functions of the Nation."

Miss Prichard then favored the congregation with a solo which was well received.

Mr. Wilson began his discourse which occupied the time profitably for about an hour, in which he portrayed the life and honorable deeds that marked the career of the hero, in a beautiful word picture that will live long in the memory of those who were so fortunate as to be present. Mr. Wilson said during his remarks, "the man whose picture will hang longest upon the wall of the human horizon, will be that of Abraham Lincoln."

A deserving tribute was also paid Mr. Lincoln for the patriotism and steady guiding hand at the beginning of the war of the Rebellion and up to the time of his cruel assassination.

After Mr. Wilson closed his remarks, Mrs. J. B. Day read a selection from Walt Whitman entitled, "My Captain." This selection was rendered in her usual pleasing manner, and proved a rare treat.

The service throughout was all that could be desired, and those who attended came away well repaid.

BABY'S PHYSICAL CULTURE.

This Is the Latest Fad for the Distraction of Mothers.

Physical culture for the babies is the very latest thing with the up-to-date mothers of society, says the New York Herald. Of course, it must be inferred from this that children in arms are being instructed in the use of horizontal bars. Nor has the boxing master quite supplanted the nursery maid. Indian clubs and dumbbells have not altogether eclipsed the time-honored rattle and tooth ring, and yet it looks as though things were shaping themselves in that direction. In Carnegie Hall, that picturesque abiding place of eccentric bachelor maids with artistic tendencies, and lone women who manage to keep the wolf away from the brown-stone portals in many curious ways, is the "studio" of Mrs. Jennie Connell. Mrs. Connell is an instructor in physical culture for children, and her services are much in demand among the mothers of the rich. She numbers among her infantile pupils the children of some of New York's first families, and I gathered from a conversation I had with her the other day that her profession is rather a lucrative one. She teaches grown persons, too, but they are not nearly such interesting pupils as the little tots. Mrs. Connell told me that children could not begin too young to understand the underlying principles of physical culture. Her youngest pupil is now a boy of 6 and he has been under her tuition for two years. On the other hand, some of her pupils are women of 50, and one is 65. "In very young children," said Mrs. Connell, "the first thing is to teach the proper use of the body. They should learn how to hold themselves how to stand upon their feet correctly. Breathing comes next, and that is not so easy. The child should be carefully instructed to breathe through the nose. Then comes the building up of the body. This may be accomplished by a course in calisthenics, always being careful to study the child's endurance, so as not to overtax its strength. The Delsarte system and the old system of physical culture advanced by Dr. Dio Lewis are also employed by me. When the children become more advanced I take up the clubs and other mild forms of developing the muscles, and for the boys I instruct in fencing, using round sticks in place of foils, as a matter of precaution against possible injury.

"In calisthenics, or any other form of exercise where both sides of the body are employed, I try to use the left more than the right. I do this to try and equalize the natural development, for most persons are more greatly developed on the right side of the body than on the left. It seems to me it would be a good thing if we could teach children to be ambidextrous. By being able to use both hands with equal facility, as in in-piano playing, we wouldn't be such lo-p-sided creatures." Mrs. Connell is thinking of organizing classes for children. As yet she has confined herself to private instruction, visiting the homes of her patrons.

THERE'S PLENTY OF FUN IN IT

Four Performances of "A Cheerful Idiot" This Week

Tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings and on Wednesday afternoon our citizens will have an opportunity of seeing at the Myers Grand Opera House the latest farce-comedy, "A Cheerful Idiot." It is said to eclipse in fun all its competitors, its dialogue is bright and witty, it fairly bristles with funny situations, and the specialties introduced are on the highest order. The cast is headed by Edward and Libbie Blondell, better known as the "laughing stars," supporting these two clever people are Emery and Nodino, refined singers and instrumentalists; Armstrong and Porter, comedy duo; Vestal and Day, the animated dolls; Joseph Morgan, basso profundo, of the Tally Ho trio, Eric Taylor, the Robbins and many others.

If you want to laugh, don't fail to see "A Cheerful Idiot."

Curious Light of Fireflies.

According to the Scientific American, the light of fireflies contains photogenic rays, which will pass through aluminum, cardboard or copper plate; the rays are capable of reflection and probably refraction and polarization; this indicates the presence of rays belonging to the ultra-violet class, and if this is so they are probably the same as the rays emitted by uranium, known as Becquerel rays; besides these invisible photogenic rays, it contains ordinary light rays. The organ producing them consists of a transparent, superficial layer which gives off the light, and of a deep, opaque layer whose function is not obvious; the ultimate branches of the tracheae or air tubes are distributed through this apparatus, as are also nerve fibers.

Green in China.

Green is the color par excellence for China this winter, and this penchant for the pretty color is a reaction after many years of partial eclipse. Green plates with gold tracery around the edges and a medallion of Sèvres in the center are charming, and pale green and white with delicate arabesques in silver decorate a beautiful dinner service. A dessert service in Spode pattern has bunches of flowers and an apple green border, the dishes made in quite the old-time shapes. For a dinner service nothing is more popular than the five-clawed green dragon on a white ground. Even odd plates for salad, sweetmeats, biscuits and cheese, etc., are in green. Plates shaped and tinted to represent leaves of lettuce are exquisitely painted.

Storm Effects on Lakes.

The tidalike effects of gales on lakes having no ordinary tides is very considerable. In the Caspian a gale will raise the water on either side six feet, causing a total difference of level of twelve feet, and in Lake Erie heavy gales occasionally cause a difference of level of more than fifteen feet.

Will give somebody a big bargain in order to close the deal at once. O. D. ROWE.

TO MRS. PINKHAM From Mrs. Walter E. Budd, of Pat- chogue, New York. Mrs. Budd, in the following letter, tells a familiar story of weakness and suffering, and thanks Mrs. Pinkham for complete relief: "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I think it is my duty to write to you and tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I feel like another woman. I had such dreadful headaches through my temples and on top of my head, that I nearly went crazy; was also troubled with chills, was very weak; my left side from my shoulders to my waist pained me terribly. I could not sleep for the pain. Plasters would help for a while, but as soon as taken off, the pain would be just as bad as ever. Doctors prescribed medicine, but it gave me no relief. "Now I feel so well and strong, have no more headaches, and no pain in side, and it is all owing to your Compound. I cannot praise it enough. It is a wonderful medicine. I recommend it to every woman I know."

CHILLS AND POOR BLOOD.

Had Indigestion, Bloating, and My Heart Would Flutter.

Dr. Greene's Nervura Made Me Feel Like a New Person.

I Could Feel the Change For the Better
From the First Dose.

Mrs. Ellinor Adams, Washington, Ind., says:

"I was taken with indigestion of the stomach and that was followed by bloating and nervous chills. When I would lie down my heart would flutter. I doctored with two doctors and both of them pronounced it rheumatism, but I got no relief. Some nights I would have two or three nervous chills. I concluded to try Dr. Greene's Nervura, blood and nerve remedy and have taken two and a half bottles and feel like a new person. I could tell the change from the first dose. Nervousness, rheumatism and heart trouble was my trouble. Dr. Greene's Nervura has been of great benefit to me and I have recommended it to several. My son is using it and has taken half a bottle and thinks he has found relief."

What gives people the greatest confidence is that Dr. Greene's Nervura is the prescription of a regular physician, Dr.
Greene, 148 State St., Chicago, Ill., who can be consulted by any one without charge in regard to any case, either by calling or writing to Dr. Greene.

Texas Swept by a Blizzard.
Austin, Texas, Feb. 6.—Texas is suffering from the coldest weather of the season. The blizzard is a wet norther with the temperature so low that the rain freezes as it falls, covering everything with ice. Reports from the west are to the effect that big herds of cattle on the ranges have all scattered to get in among the foothills for protection, and it is feared that many of the herds will sustain losses.

To Assess Stockholders.
San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 6.—The state bank commissioners have made a careful investigation of the affairs of the Union Savings bank of San Jose, and find its assets $491,411 less than a statement taken from the books showed two days before, and have directed Attorney General Ford to bring suit in the proper court to have the bank declared insolvent. As soon as the court shall adjudge the bank insolvent, the commissioners will order the directors to levy an assessment upon its capital stock for the benefit of the depositors.

For Librarian of Congress.
Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 6.—Superintendent J. M. Greenwood of the Kansas City public schools has been suggested by friends as a candidate for the office of librarian of congress to succeed
John Russell Young, recently deceased.
These friends insist that, as Mr. Greenwood is eminently qualified by training and taste for the position, and as Missouri is sparsely represented on the roster of Uncle Sam's officials, the race should be an easy one. The movement to make of him a candidate is growing.
Mr. Greenwood is well known among educators.

Edmund Willis, Painter, Dead.
New York, Feb. 6.—Edmund Ayl-Burton Willis, a well-known landscape painter, is dead at his home in Brooklyn. His best-known picture is probably "The Prairie Fire." Mr. Willis painted many pictures of landscape scenes in the western states for private galleries.

from February 6 to 12, good for return until February 28, at $27.15.

Excursion Rates to the Mardi Gras and Winter Resorts.

Via the Northwestern line. On account of the Mardi Gras at New Orleans and Mobile, excursion tickets will be sold February 6 to 12, inclusive, at very low rates, limited for return passage until February 28. Excursion tickets are also on sale daily, at reduced rates, to the principal winter resorts in the United States and Mexico. For full information apply to ticket agents Chicago &
Northwestern Ry.

For La Grippe
Thomas Whitfield & Co., 240 Wabash ave., corner Jackson street, one of Chicago's oldest and most prominent druggists, recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for la grippe, as it not only gives a prompt and complete relief, but also counteracts any tendency of la grippe to result in pneumonia. For sale by People's Drug Co., corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

AGAINST THE TREATY.

Eminent Americans Address a Protest to the Senate.

New York, Feb. 6.—A petition against territorial expansion and against the ratification of the peace treaty as it now stands, signed by twenty-four citizens of the United States, and addressed to "The senate of the United States," was made public last night. The signers are:
Charles Francis Adams, Boston; Felix
Adler; George S. Boutwell, ex-secretary of the treasury; John G. Carlisle, ex-secretary of the treasury; Andrew Carnegie; Grover Cleveland, ex-president of the United States; Theodore Cuyler; Charles H. Elliot, president of the Harvard university; Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor; John B. Henderson, ex-
United States senator from Missouri;
William B. Hornblower; W. J. Palmer, president of the Rio Grande Western railway; Wheeler H. Peckham; Sherman S. Rogers, Buffalo; Carl Schurz, ex-secretary of the interior; Edward M. Shepard; Edwin Burritt Smith, Chicago; Moorfield Storey, Boston; William G. Sumner, Yale university; the Rev. Henry Vandike; Herman Von Holst, University of Chicago; William L. Wilson, ex-postmaster-general, now president of Washington and Lee university of Virginia; Theodore S. Woolsey of Yale university; Henry C. Potter, bishop of New York.

Hungarian Village in Flames.

London, Feb. 6.—The Daily Telegraph publishes the following dispatch from Vienna: "Terrible scenes were witnessed in the conflagration last Tuesday night which destroyed the whole village of Nagysporecz, in the Liptau district of Hungary. Twenty men, literally in flames, ran about the streets until they dropped insensible.
Many were trodden down by maddened animals. Others were frozen to death in the open fields. Twenty charred bodies have been removed and ninety of the survivors are suffering from dreadful burns, several being blinded. The flames destroyed 600 head of cattle."

CATARRH OF STOMACH.

A Pleasant, Simple, but Safe and Effectual Cure for It.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable.
The usual symptoms are a full or bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings,
a formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart and lungs and difficult breathing; headaches, fickle appetite, nervousness and a general played-out,
languid feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure of this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily, thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate, mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do and when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlan's the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Diatase, Aseptic Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. N. J. Boeber of 2810 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge therefrom passing backward into the throat reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me for three years for catarrh of stomach without cure, but today I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn
and bloating after meals.

Send for little book mailed free, on stomach troubles, by addressing Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich. The tablets can be found at all drug stores.

A Well-Known Restaurant.

The popular dining rooms of The
Mrs. Clark Co., 151-153 Wabash Ave., Chicago, which were recently destroyed by fire, are now open to the public. The place has been very much enlarged, refitted and improved.

For a good meal, in good company,
in good quarters, at a modest price, The Mrs. Clark Co., easily ranks among the very first. No one will make a mistake in patronizing this restaurant.

OLD MANUSCRIPT INK.

Recipe from Which an Excellent Quality
Can Be Made.

"While examining a large number of old manuscripts of an old scribe, some twenty-five years ago," said a well-known New York librarian recently to a Washington Star man, "I was struck with the clearness and legibility of the writing, owing, in great measure,
to the permanent quality of the ink,
which had not faded in the least, although many of the manuscripts were nearly 200 years old. It was remarked, too, that the writer must have been celebrated in his day, for his calligraphy, for I met with a letter or two from his correspondents in which there was a request for a recipe of the ink he used. I found his recipes, which I copied, and from one of them, dated in 1653, I have during the last eighteen years made all the ink I have used. The recipe reads as follows:
Rainwater, 1 gallon; galls, bruised, 1 pound; green copperas, ½ pound, gum arabic, 10 ounces, 5 drams, 1 scruple.
Not requiring so large a quantity at a time, I reduced the proportions to one-eighth, and the recipe stands thus:
Rainwater, 1 pint; galls, bruised, 1½ ounces; green copperas, 6 drams; gum arabic, 10 drams. The galls must be coarsely powdered and put into a bottle with the other ingredients and water added. The bottle, when securely stoppered, should be placed in the light (sun if possible) and its contents occasionally stirred until the gum and copperas are dissolved; after which it is enough to shake the bottle daily, and in the course of a month or six weeks the ink will be fit to use. I have ventured to add ten drops of carbolic acid to the contents of the bottle,
as it effectually prevents the formation and growth of mold without any detriment to the quality of the ink so far as I know."

Don Carlos to Fight Spain.

London, Feb. 6.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Graphic telegraphs the substance of an interview
he has had with the agent of Don Carlos in France, who declared there was no longer any doubt that the pretender would take the field as soon as the peace treaty was ratified. The organization of the rising has been intrusted to Marquis de Cevallos.

A YOUNG MAN'S SUCCESS.
How He Secured Happiness—
Hope for Others.

Three years ago I was a wreck of manhood, without ambition, energy or hope. I was a victim of secret vice and the fearful results of the vile habit which so often robs men of manhood and health, renders life a burden, business a failure and marriage a disappointment. I was weak, tired, languid, despondent and nervous, together with other symptoms of that disease of error. I felt that my life was blighted and robbed of all that makes life worth living. My wife, whom I loved fondly, almost sacredly, and whose love was an inspiration to me to achieve the most of life's opportunities, had changed in a year,
from a cheerful, hopeful, light-hearted, happy girl, became discouraged, dissatisfied and careless; disappointment and unhappiness were pictured on her countenance and she was conscious that my crime against nature, although done in ignorance and thoughtlessness, was the cause of all my trouble, and I felt like a criminal in hiding, fearing discovery. I was in despair, and often wished the cord of life might be broken and I be released from a bondage which was worse than death.

To-day I am well and happy, restored to perfect health and vigorous manhood, relieved of all the effects of disease, and experiencing joys and happiness that I had never before known.

My wife has experienced as great a change as myself. She is happy and light-hearted as of yore and our baby boy, now sixteen months old, is a perfect picture of health, and when he plays about his mother's knee I think of him as a bond of love, and health and happiness restored, and my heart swells in grateful thanksgiving to the Giver of all good things that, with restored health, I can appreciate the greatest pleasures of life, the most exquisite enjoyments and sweetest embrace, such as I believe few men have experienced.

When a man has suffered for many years with a weakness that blights his life, and robs him of all that really makes life worth living, when after years of doctoring with all sorts of advertised remedies and self-styled Specialists, he finds a cure that brings back the health and energy that seemed lost forever, he naturally wants his fellow man to know about it and to be freed of bondage
the thousands of young, middle-aged, single and married men who are to-day battling with a shattered nervous system as I did. It is for them that I tell this story. While suffering as above I was advised by Rev. H. P.
Johnson to consult Dr. N. E. Wood, the celebrated Chicago Specialist. I did so, and he restored me to health and vigor. While I would not part with the credit of the world, I have asked him to publish this letter for the benefit of others who should seek a cure before I am gratefully yours,
GEO. A. GOODWIN,
743 Madison St., Chicago, Ill.

Dr. Wood may be consulted free at Hotel
Myers, Janesville, Saturday, February 11th, one day only. See his advertisement in

WINE OF CARDUI
Woman Knows Woman.

ZURICH, KAN., Jan. 31.
I used Wine of Cardui for nervousness and weakness in the womb. After taking one bottle I was well again. I am a midwife and always recommend Wine of Cardui to my lady friends during pregnancy and after birth as a tonic.
Every lady who takes it finds that it does even more than is claimed for it.
MRS. V. M. BOISVERT.

Wine of Cardui

Nobody knows woman like woman. Men go to medical colleges, study books and listen to lectures. They learn indirectly of the diseases of women, but they are men and can never fully understand the ailments, the sufferings, the agonies of mothers, wives and sisters. A woman knows. Mrs. Boisvert knows. She has passed through the trials and tribulations of her sex. She has been near by when her sisters suffered. She has seen them relieved and cured with Wine of Cardui. Is it any wonder she recommends it? Is it any wonder that thousands of other women recommend it. They know. They have actual experience to prompt them. They spread the tidings from mouth to mouth, telling how Wine of Cardui helps young girls, helps the weak of all ages, helps and cures all womanly ills.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY.

1665—Princess Anne and later Queen Anne, daughter of James II, born; died 1714.
1778—France officially acknowledged independence of United States and promised an alliance, a decisive event in the Revolution. Soon after the Declaration of Independence Benjamin Franklin, Arthur Lee and Silas Deane had been sent as commissioners to the continental courts. No recognition was accorded them until after the defeat of Burgoyne, at Saratoga, in October, 1777. This decisive battle gave confidence to the court, and Louis XVI, influenced by Marie Antoinette, a hear ally of the Revolutionists, resolved to make common cause with the Americans. Lafayette had already offered his sword, and soon after the treaty a French fleet from Toulon arrived in the Delaware. In the siege of Yorktown 57 French ships took part; also 7,000 French soldiers.
1896—General John Gibbon, U. S. A., retired, died in Baltimore; born 1823.

A SANDBAGGING BILL.

A bill has been introduced at Madison requiring all manufacturers of patent medicines to give their formula to the state, or keep out of Wisconsin. There is no reason why such a law should be enacted. The claim is that the public health would be benefited, but the idea is not well founded. No manufacturer invests money in a plant to make a medicine that will injure people who take it according to directions. And if the people do not use it according to direction, and are injured by its use, the fault lies with them, and not with the medicine. It would be just as consistent to enact a law that all merchants mark the cost price on every article sold in order that the customer might know that he was not being overcharged. A trade secret is often worth millions of dollars, and to expect a manufacturer of medicine to divulge his formulas—the result, perhaps, of years of study—is too much. To enact this law would mean the driving of proprietary medicine companies out of the Wisconsin field, and the people who wanted to buy some well known medicine, would be forced to take a substitute of some kind—home made or otherwise—and probably at an increased price, as there would be no competition. The fact that thousands of dollars are paid for patent medicines each year shows that people want these remedies. And when they want them, they want the genuine and not some worthless imitation, said to be just as good. The purchaser generally knows nothing about drugs, and even if the formulas were printed on the bottle wrappers, they would give him no information of value.

If this bill was passed, the people would receive no benefit, but piratical medicine manufacturers might be enabled to do business on the reputation of the well known firms. Thus it will be seen that the bill is not calculated to protect the people, but would enable one set of men to appropriate the benefit rightfully belonging to another set—the manufacturers who had no formulas that they desired to keep to themselves, would have the field, and their "sarsaparilla" would be sold to the man who asked for one of the widely known brands, because the well known firm preferred abandoning the Wisconsin market rather than divulging its formula. The people of the Badger state are not ready to lend themselves to any plan that will work this way, and will therefore favor killing the bill.

WISCONSIN PRESS COMMENT.

Milwaukee Wisconsin:
The so-called "Indian war" in Alaska is proof that whisky is as efficient as ever on the frontier of civilization.

Beloit Free Press:
The only county in the state outside of Milwaukee that gave Mr. Quarles four votes from start to finish was Rock county.

Milwaukee Journal:
The invention of the typewriter has given employment to 500,000 women, and the ability to write a fairly correct letter to nearly as many men.

Milwaukee Sentinel:
When the uniform fish and game law is finally enacted it will be safer for ordinary citizens to consult the game warden previous to hunting, fishing or buying food.

Evansville Enterprise:
Farmers all favor spring shooting, and say the law should not be changed as is being agitated. Spring shooting gives the farmer an opportunity to secure a few ducks on his own farm, while a change would be wholly in the interest of resort keepers.

La Crosse Press:
A bill is before the Wisconsin legislature which, if it passes (and it probably won't), will compel all patent medicine concerns to publish the formula of their preparations. Why not compel the doctors to make public their prescriptions?

Oshkosh Northwestern:
Now that the senatorial contest is over there is no use of continuing the wrangling as a sort of side dish to the political feast. For six months the state has been in constant political ferment, and it is time the people were given a rest and an opportunity to recuperate their energies for the great presidential contest of 1900.

General Miles made the same sort of a campaign in his discussion with General Crook, it will be remembered, so this is not the first time that he has "tried his case in the newspapers" in hopes of getting a little personal glory.

No man who cannot read a Chinese laundry ticket could be expected to know what was in a patent medicine, even if the formula was printed on the wrapper of the bottle.

W. B. West has sold The Milton Junction News to F. M. Palmeter, and the paper has made the long jump from the prohibition ranks to the democratic faith.

And as President McKinley proposes to gift the army troubles he doubtless whistles "All Quoons Look Alike to Me."

the Filipinos, who find that any successes which might be won by them over the Americans would only lead to their repression by the united forces of foreign nations in the interests of good order and civilization. Admiral Dewey, who has been represented as opposing the retention of the Philippines, after taking an active part in the engagement signed a letter deprecating the policy of retrocession in the name of civilization and of the honor of the United States.

The attitude of Spain toward the insurgents is made clearer through the arrival at Manila of Gen. Rios, who surrendered Iloilo to the insurgents. Gen. Rios asserts that Iloilo was evacuated by his troops as a matter of necessity, the native forces having the garrison at their mercy. There was no alternative, he says, but to march out on the best terms obtainable. He asserts that he urged the Americans to come and take the city, but that his message reached them so late that they arrived only to find the Filipinos in full possession by right of superior force. Gen. Rios disclaims any intention to injure the Americans in his course at Iloilo, but he declines to give an opinion as to whether his action as Spanish governor amounts to a recognition of the Filipino government.

It was 8:30 o'clock Saturday evening when three venturesome Filipinos ran past the pickets of the First Nebraska volunteers at Santa Mesa. They were challenged and retired without replying. Once more they tried the experiment, were challenged and thrust back beyond the picket line. A third time they approached the Cossack picket maintained by the Americans at that point. Corporal Greely challenged them and then opened fire, killing one and wounding another.

These shots aroused the insurgent line, stretching from Calocan, near the bay, north of Manila, to Santa Mesa, in the rear of the city, and a fusillade was started at many points. The pickets of the First Nebraska, the First North Dakota and the First Montana regiments replied vigorously, and hot work began. The American outposts, however, held their ground until reinforcements arrived. At 9 o'clock the Filipinos attempted to rush the lines, and almost broke through the wavering pickets and breathless detachments which had hurried to their support. The Americans, however, grew stronger every minute. The artillery joined in the melee and soon from the bay Admiral Dewey's warships began to shell the insurgent positions. The Filipinos then concentrated their forces at three points—Calocan, Gagalangin and Santa Mesa.

At 1 o'clock in the morning the insurgents opened a hot fire from the three points simultaneously. This was supplemented by the fire of two siege guns at Balik-Balik, and by advancing their skirmishers at Paco and Paracan. The Americans replied by a heavy fire, but in the darkness they could have little knowledge of its effect.

The Utah light artillery at last succeeded in silencing the siege guns of the Filipinos. The Third artillery was pounding away at the flashes of fire showing the insurgent positions on the extreme left. The engagement lasted over an hour. During much of the time the United States cruiser Charleston and the gunboat Concord, stationed off Malibon, hammered with the rapid-fire guns of their secondary batteries upon the insurgents' position at Calocan.

At 2:45 o'clock in the morning there was another fusillade along the entire line. By this time the United States monitor Monadnock was in position south of Manila and opened fire on the insurgent line near Malate.

When daylight came the Americans advanced. The First California and the First Washington infantry made a splendid charge and drove the insurgents from the villages of Paco and Santa Mesa. The Nebraska regiment also distinguished itself, capturing several prisoners and one howitzer and a very strong position at the reservoir, which is connected with the Manila water works. The Twentieth Kansas and the Dakota regiments compelled the enemy's flank to retire to Calocan. Firing continued throughout the day at various points. The American losses are estimated at twenty killed and 125 wounded. The losses of the Filipinos are heavy, but no estimate of them can be made at present. Though there has been no concerted uprising in Manila, several attempts were made in this city Saturday night to assassinate American officers.

NO ALARM FELT.

Reassuring Dispatches Received at the National Capital.
Washington, Feb. 6.—The natural anxiety of the authorities at Washington has been relieved by the receipt of the following dispatches:

"Manila, Feb. 5.—To the Adjutant-General: Insurgents in large force opened attack on our outer lines at 8:45 last evening; renewed attack several times during night; at 4 o'clock this morning entire line engaged; all attacks repulsed; at day-break advanced against insurgents and have driven them beyond the lines they formerly occupied, capturing several villages and their defense works; insurgent loss in dead and wounded large; our own casualties thus far estimated at 175, very few fatal. Troops enthusiastic and acting fearlessly. Navy did splendid exception on flanks of enemy; city held in check and absolute quiet prevails; insurgents have secured a good many Mauser rifles, a few field pieces and quick-firing guns, with ammunition, during last month. Situation is most satisfactory; no apprehension need be felt. Perfect quiet prevails in city and vicinity. List of casualties being prepared and will be forwarded as soon as possible. Troops in excellent health and spirits."

DEATH BLOW TO INDEPENDENCE.

Filipinos Make No Attempt to Recover Lost Ground.

Manila, Feb. 6.—The Filipinos have apparently reached the conclusion that the Americans mean business, now that the barriers are removed, as there were no further hostilities last night, and no attempt was made to recover the lost ground. It is possible, however, that they are following the tactics they employed against the Spaniards and will merely lie off a few days to recuperate their forces before attempting to attack.

"Manila, Feb. 5.—To the Secretary of the Navy, Washington: Insurgents here inaugurated general engagement yesterday night, which has continued to-day. American army and navy generally successful. Insurgents have been driven back and our line advanced. No casualties to navy."

"Manila, Feb. 5.—To Gen. Greely, Chief Signal Officer: Action continues since early morning; losses quite heavy; everything favorable to our arms. THOMPSON.
"Chief signal officer on the staff of Gen. Otis."

HAYES BROS. WILL EXPEND $20,000

TO REMODEL LAPPIN BLOCK THROUGHOUT.

Work Will Commence This Spring and Be Rushed to Completion—Lappin Hall Will Be Done Away With—Will Be Office Building With Passenger Elevator.

Michael and Dennis Hayes, of this city, who recently made the purchase of the Thomas Lappin block at the south-west corner of Main and Milwaukee streets, have decided not to tear down the present structure and erect in its place a more modern building. Instead they will remodel throughout the present building from cellar to roof. The work will commence within the next thirty days, and will cost in the neighborhood of $20,000. On every floor the carpenters and painters will have full sway, and, when completed, the structure will be a modern building in every sense of the word. The intention is to make it an office building from the second to and including the fourth floor. Lappin Hall, which for many years was one of the most complete public halls in the entire state of Wisconsin, will soon be a thing of the past. On the third and fourth floors this hall has occupied the greater portion of the space, but has not been on a paying basis for many years owing to the Myers opera house and the many public halls in the city which have been more desirable.

Hayes Bros. have engaged the services of a well known Chicago architect who is now making the necessary remodeling plans. These will call for spacious offices, many of which will be built to suit the tenants. The fourth floor will be as desirable as the second for the reason that a modern passenger elevator will be put in, which will have its entrance on Milwaukee street, where the present stairway is located. This elevator will be as fast and complete as any found in the modern office buildings in Chicago, and will be operated by steam and managed by men who will have nothing else to do. The entire building will be heated by steam, a modern plant to cost a goodly sum to be placed in the basement. The best of sanitary plumbing will be used throughout, and gas and electricity will be placed in every office for lighting purposes.

The exterior of the building will be greatly improved, and will be overhauled to such an extent that the public will hardly recognize it. A handsome and costly cornice will decorate the top and fill a long felt want. New windows will replace the present ones, and changes in the present fire escapes will undoubtedly be made, as the intention is to somewhat change the location of the inner halls. Every outside brick in the building will be painted and stripped, which will add much to the general outside appearance.

Whether or not changes will be made in space on the ground floor, remains to be seen. Michael Hayes, in speaking of the changes to be made, said to a Gazette representative Saturday evening: "Yes, it is true that we have decided to remodel the Lappin block. We never did seriously consider the tearing down of the present structure and building in its place a more modern building, for that would require a considerable outlay. The improvements that we intend to make are now in the hands of a Chicago architect and will soon be forwarded here, so that the work of remodeling may commence within the next thirty days. I think that before we get through with the work it will cost us in the neighborhood of $20,000."

ROLLER SKATING RINK HERE

Noted Trick Bicycle Rider Wants to Rent Concordia Hall

Lee Richardson, the far famed trick bicycle rider, was in the city today looking for a suitable location to open a roller skating rink. He says the Concordia hall would fill the bill, and that if he can secure it at a fair price he will open up a first-class rink here within a short time.

Mr. Richardson is now located in Stoughton, where he is conducting a rink. For several seasons past he has won fame in different portions of the country as a trick bicycle rider, and says that next fall he will go to London via California, Australia and Europe and will finally wind up at the Paris exposition in 1900.

FATHER AND SON PLACED IN JAIL

LOCAL RESIDENTS RAISE HAVOC IN BELOIT.

George L. Cone and Son Robert, Who Reside on Pearl Street, are Charged With Larceny—Will Be Given a Hearing Before Justice Booth on Wednesday.

George L. Cone and son, Robert Cone, who make their home in this city at 594 Pearl street, are now behind the bars of the Rock county jail on the charge of grand larceny. They were arrested in the city of Beloit and brought here Saturday evening, and on Wednesday will be given a hearing before Justice Booth in the Line City.

Their trouble was confined to the city of Beloit, where they allege they were called on a matter of business.

According to the police of Beloit the two Cones and another son claimed that Thomas Branigan was holding property of theirs on an alleged board bill, and meeting Mr. Branigan on the street at 5 o'clock Friday evening, the county seaters proposed to the landlord that he should be pounded then and there. Mr. Branigan told them to wait till he could speak to the police about it, and while he was in search of the officers the Cones rushed into his hotel and grabbed a lot of clothing, property of other folks, and started to run across the state line with it. But the police were close behind them. Marshal Appleby gathered in the old man. Officer Scheibel knocked one of the sons down and Ed Branigan overtook and knocked down the third member of the party and all three were quickly lodged in jail. The father and son Robert were arraigned and held for trial. Robert made an attempt to run out of the court room Saturday morning, but was caught by Officer Scheibel.

Mr. Cone and his son tell an entirely different story, claiming that they were entitled to clothing that Branigan had in his possession, and that when their hearing takes place they will be able to fully explain all.

Mr. Cone is not an entire stranger to the police of Janesville, and this is not the first time he has occupied a cell in Rock county jail.

The Beloit police claim that they have sufficient evidence to make it exceedingly interesting for the Cones when they appear before Justice Booth.

CAPELLE-MACLOON, NUPTIALS

Were Solemnized at the Congregational Parsonage Late Saturday Afternoon.

In the parlors of the Congregational church parsonage at 5:40 o'clock Saturday afternoon Rev. Robert C. Denison performed the ceremony that united as husband and wife, Frederick A. Capelle and Miss Helen Augusta Macloon, both of this city. The ceremony was as quiet as it was possible to make it, there being present as witnesses only the sister and brother of the groom, Miss Etta Capelle and Claire D. Capelle.

Following the ceremony the happy couple were driven to the South High street home of the groom's mother where a tempting repast awaited them, there being present only a few relatives.

On the 7:20 train Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Capelle left for Florida, intending to be gone several weeks, during which time they will visit a number of the leading resorts. On their return they will take up their residence at the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Capelle, 155 South High street, where the bride has been making her home of late.

Both bride and groom are too well known to need any introduction. The bride is a worthy woman who has the respect of the entire community. She is the daughter of the late Captain William Macloon, and is beloved by all.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Capelle, and is employed as bookkeeper at the Janesville Barb Wire Co. Nothing but good can be said in his behalf.

To Mr. and Mrs. Capelle a host of local friends extend the most hearty congratulations.

Culver-Yeomans

Charles Eugene Culver and Miss Elsie May Yeomans were quietly married on Tuesday evening, Jan. 31 at the parsonage of the Congregational church, Rev. Robert C. Denison officiating. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Yeomans, of La Prairie, while the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Culver, of Rockford, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. Culver will reside with the bride's parents for the present. The many friends of the happy couple wish them much joy in their journey through life.

FUNERALS HELD YESTERDAY.

Obsequies Held In This City Yesterday Afternoon.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. Mary T. Crall were held yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock, from the North Jackson street residence, Rev. E. H. Pence officiating. There was a large gathering of friends, and the floral offerings were many. At the close of the services the remains were taken to the town of Center cemetery for interment.

Miss Eliza A. Nye.

Funeral rites over the remains of the late Miss Eliza A. Nye were held from the house, 208 Jackson street, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. At the close the remains were placed to rest in Oak Hill cemetery.

CLINGMAN AS MANAGER

Belvidere Man Will Have Charge of the New Phone Exchange Here

William Clingman, of Belvidere, Ill., will act as local manager for the Rock County Telephone company, and will move his family here in the spring.

Mr. Clingman is a skilled electrician, and of late has been employed by the National Sewing Machine company in their Belvidere factory. For a number of years he worked for the Western Union-Telegraph company.

The local company have not as yet decided on the location of a central office, but in all probability it will be on the third floor of the Jackson block, at the corner of Main and Milwaukee streets.

ADDRESS LARGE GATHERING

Francis Murphy and His Son Face Large Audience.

Francis Murphy, the noted temperance worker, who carried on such good work in Janesville, faced a crowded house in Madison yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, where he gave his first of ten meetings.

His lecture took place in the Congregational church, and not only was every seat occupied, but people stood up. His son, William, addressed the large gathering both in the afternoon and in the evening when the M. E. and Presbyterian congregations united with him meeting at the Congregational church.

Pretty Good on the Guess.

The city records for 1898 show that the premiums paid to fire insurance companies in this city was about $47,000. During 1896 it was about $61,000. On May 4, 1897, (first three weeks after the Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance Co. was organized and four days before they began to issue policies) The Gazette foretold a saving of $14,000 to the people in this city. The Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance company, and many of its policy holders, feel confident that they had a big hand in this reduction, as also in the 20 per cent drop in rates on private dwellings, Oct. 9, 1897, a thing which never occurred before and here, and sincere trust that the people will show their appreciation by taking a fair proportion of their insurance with their home company. We are now carrying well on to $150,000 in Janesville, but there is room for more. Come with us and we will do you good. Leave name at office, 38 South Main street, or drop a card to C. W. Van Akin, secretary.

SALOON MEN FINED SELLING TO MINORS

FARMER BOYS GET DRUNK AND TELL ALL.

John Connell Paid Fifty Dollars and Costs For the Part He Played—Town of Janesville Lads Spent Sunday in Jail—William Hart Also Arrested.

Several saloon keepers in Janesville are just beginning to realize that there is no money in the business of selling liquor to minors. Not a few of these dealers have paid heavy fines of late, and the end is not yet. There are others.

In the municipal court this morning at 10 o'clock was called the case of the City of Janesville vs. John Connell. The defendant is a dispenser of intoxicating liquors at 67 West Milwaukee street, and according to the evidence submitted this morning he sold liquor on Saturday to boys under twenty-one years of age.

Frank McDermott and John McDermott are two innocent farmer boys who reside four miles north of this city in the town of Janesville. The former is sixteen years of age and the latter twenty. They are ardent smokers. Saturday morning they came to town in charge of a load of leaf tobacco, which they delivered at one of the local warehouses. So pleased were they at the thought that they had received a good price for their crop that they proposed to celebrate the event in right royal style before returning. They hitched their team on one of the side streets and started in to drink all the whisky in town. The first resort they called at was the Connell saloon, and there it is said they imbibed freely.

After partaking of more than their systems could make way with in due time they made their appearance on the street in a drunken state. They had no more than traveled a block than Chief Hogan and Officer Brown were on their train. When placed under arrest both imagined that they were sole owners of the feasible gold mine and had money to burn. When placed behind the bars they looked at matters in a different light, and the younger of the two parted with enough tears to have floated a good sized battleship. When questioned by the police where they secured their liquor they couldn't tell quick enough so eager were they to make known all facts.

The juvenile prisoners, after spending Sunday in jail, were brought into court this morning as witnesses. Saloon-keeper Connell when confronted with the facts pleaded guilty, and fined $50 and costs, or a total of $52.41, which he paid.

Mr. Connell is proving himself a liberal donor to the city fund, he having recently paid a heavy fine for allowing gambling in his place of business.

As soon as Mr. Connell paid his fine the case of the City of Janesville vs. William Hart was called. The defendant conducts a saloon at No. 8 North Main street, and it is alleged that he sold on Saturday liquor to the same parties. Mr. Hart pleaded not guilty and his case was adjourned till 3 o'clock this afternoon.

THE ARCHBISHOP'S BANQUET

By ROBERT BARE.

[Copyright, 1898, by the Author.]

The proud and warlike Archbishop Baldwin of Treves was well mounted, and, although the road by the margin of the river was in places bad, the august horseman nevertheless made good progress along it, for he had a long distance to travel before the sun went down. The way had been rudely constructed by that great maker of roads, the army, and the troops who had built it did not know when they labored at it that they were preparing a path for their own retreat, should disaster overtake them. The grim and silent horseman had been the brains, where the troops were the limbs. This thoroughfare had been of his planning, and over it, back into Treves, had returned a victorious, not a defeated, army. The iron hand of the archbishop had come down on every traitorous noble in the land, and every castle gate that had not opened to him through fear had been battered in by force. Peace now spread her white wings over all the country and where opposition to his lordship's stubborn will had been the strongest there was silence as well, with perhaps a thin wreath of blue smoke hovering over the blackened walls. The provinces on each bank of the Moselle from Treves to the Rhine now acknowledged Baldwin their overlord, a suzerainty technically claimed by his lordship's predecessors, but the iron archbishop had changed the nominal into the actual, and it had taken some hard knocks to do it. His present journey was well earned, for he was taking himself from his more formal and exacting court at Treves to his summer palace at Cochem, there to rest from the fatigues of a campaign in which he had used not only his brain, but his good right arm as well.

The palace, which was to be the end of his journey, was in some respects well suited to its master, for, standing on an eminence high above Cochem, with its score of pinnacles glittering in the sun, it seemed to one below a light and airy structure, but it was in reality a fortress, almost impregnable, and 300 years later it sent into a less turbulent sphere the souls of 1,600 Frenchmen before its flag was lowered to the enemy.

The personal appearance of the archbishop and the smallness of his escort were practical illustrations of the fact that the land was at peace and that he was the master of it. His attire was neither clerical nor warlike, but rather that of a nobleman riding abroad where no enemy could possibly lurk. He was to all appearance unarmed and had no protection save a light chain mail jacket of bright steel, which was worn over his vesture and not concealed, as was the custom. This jacket sparkled in the sun as if it were woven of fine threads strung with small and innumerable diamonds. It might ward off a dagger thrust or turn aside a half spent arrow, but it was too light to be of much service against a sword or pike. The archbishop was well mounted on a powerful black charger that had carried him through many a hot corner and that now made little of the difficulties of the ill constructed road, putting the other horses on their mettle to equal the pace set for them.

The escort consisted of 12 men, all lightly armed, for Gottlieb, the monk, who rode sometimes by the archbishop's side, but more often behind him, could hardly be counted as a warrior should defense become necessary. When the archbishop left Treves, his oldest general had advised his taking an escort of a thousand men at least, putting it on the ground that such a number was necessary to uphold the dignity of the office, but Baldwin smiled darkly and said that where he rode the dignity of the electorship would be safe, even though none rode beside him or behind him. Few dared offer advice to the elector, but the bluff general persisted and spoke of danger in riding down the Moselle valley with so small a following.

"Who is there left to molest me?" asked the archbishop, and the general was forced to admit that there was none.

An army builds a road along the line of the least resistance, and often when

Their leader raised his long sword, a promontory thrust its rocky nose into the river the way led up the hill through the forest, getting back into the valley again as best it could. During these inland excursions the monk, evidently unused to equestrianism, fell behind, and sometimes the whole troop was halted by command of its chief until Gottlieb, clinging to his horse's mane, emerged from the thicket, the archbishop curbing the impetuosity of his charger and watching with a cynical smile curling his stern lips the reappearance of the good father.

After one of the most laborious ascents and descents they had encountered that day, the archbishop waited for the monk, and when he came up with his leader panting and somewhat disheveled, the latter said, "There appears to be a lesson in your tribulations which hereafter you may retail with profit to your flock, relating how a good man, leaving the right and beaten path and following his own devices in the wilderness, may bring discomfiture upon himself."

"The lesson it conveys to me, my lord," said the monk dryly, "is that a man is but a fool to leave the stability of good stout sandals, with which he is accustomed, to venture his body on a horse that pays little heed to his wishes."

"This is our last detour," replied the elector. "There are now many miles of winding but level road before us and you have thus a chance to retrieve your reputation as a horseman in the eyes of our troop."

"In truth, my lord, I never boasted of it," returned the monk, "but I am right glad to learn that the way will be less mountainous. To what district have we penetrated?"

"Above us, but unseen from this bank of the river, is the castle of the Widow Starkenburg. Her days of widowhood, however, are nearly past, for I intend to marry her to one of my victorious knights, who will hold the castle for me."

"The Countess of Starkenburg," said the monk, "must surely now be at an age when the thoughts turn toward heaven rather than toward matrimony."

"I have yet to meet the woman," replied the archbishop, gazing upward, "who pleads old age as an excuse for turning away from a suitable lover. It is thy misfortune, Gottlieb, that in choosing a woolen cowl rather than an iron headpiece thou shouldst thus have lost a chance of advancement. The castle, I am told, has well filled wine vaults, and old age in wine is doubtless more to thy taste than the same quality in woman. 'Tis a pity thou art not a knight, Gottlieb."

"The fault is not beyond the power of our holy father to remedy by special dispensation," replied the monk with a chuckle.

The elector laughed silently and looked down on his comrade in kindly fashion, shaking his head.

"The wiles of Castle Starkenburg are not for thy appreciative palate, ghostly father. I have already selected a mate for the widow."

"And what if thy selection jumps not with her approval? They tell me the countess has a will of her own."

"It matters little to me, and I give her the choice merely because I am loath to war with a woman. The castle commands the river and holds the district. The widow may give it up peaceably at the altar or forcibly at the point of the sword, whichever method commends itself to her ladyship. The castle must be in the command of one whom I can trust."

The conversation here met a startling interruption. The archbishop and his guard were trotting rapidly round a promontory and following the bend of the river, the nature of the country being such that it was impossible to see many hundred feet ahead of them. Suddenly they came upon a troop of armed and mounted men standing like statues before them. The troop numbered an even score and completely filled the way between the precipice on their left and the stream on their right. Although armed, every sword was in its scabbard, with the exception of the long, two banded weapon of the leader, who stood a few paces in advance of his men, with the point of his sword resting on the ground. The black horse, old in campaigns, recognized danger ahead and stopped instantly, without waiting for the drawing of the rein, planting his two fore feet firmly in front with a endemness of action that would have unhorsed a less alert rider. Before the archbishop could question the silent host that barred his way their leader raised his long sword until it stood perpendicularly in the air above his head, and with a loud voice, in measured tones, as one repeats a lesson he has learned by rote, he cried, "My lord archbishop of Treves, the Countess Laurette von Starkenburg invites you to sup with her."

In the silence that followed the leader's sword still remained poised untrembling in the air. Across the narrow gorge from the wooded sides of the opposite mountains came with mocking cadence the echo of the last words of the invitation, clear and distinct, as if spoken again by some one concealed in the forest. A deep frown darkened the brow of the fighting archbishop.

"The countess is most kind," he said slowly. "Convey to her my respectful admiration and express my deep regret that I am unable to accept her hospitality, as I ride tonight to my castle at Cochem."

The leader of the opposing host suddenly lowered his upraised sword as if in salute, but the motion seemed to be a preconcerted signal, for every man behind him instantly whipped blade from scabbard and stood there with naked weapon displayed. The leader, raising his sword once more to its former position, repeated in the same loud and monotonous voice, as if the archbishop had not spoken:

"My lord archbishop of Treves, the Countess Laurette von Starkenburg invites you to sup with her."

The intelligent warhorse, who had regarded the obstructing force with head held high, retreated slowly step by step, until now a considerable distance separated the two companies. The captain of the guard had seen from the first that attack or defense was equally useless, and, with his men, had also given way gradually as the strange colloquy went on. Whether any of the opposing force noticed this or not, they made no attempt to recover the ground thus almost imperceptibly stolen from them, but stood as if each horse were rooted to the spot.

Baldwin, the fighter, whose compressed lips showed how loath he was to turn back upon any foe, nevertheless saw the futility of resistance, and in a quick, clear whisper, he said hastily: "Back, back! If we cannot fight them, we can at least outpace them!"

The good monk had taken advantage of his privilege as a noncombatant to retreat well to the rear while the invitation was being given, and declined and in the succeeding flight now found himself leading the van. The captain of the guard threw himself between the Starkenburg men and the prince of the church, but the former made no effort at pursuit, standing where they had stood from the first until the rounding promontory hid them from view.

Suddenly the horse on which the monk rode stood stock still, and the worthy man, with a cry of alarm, clinging to the animal's mane, shot over his head and came heavily to the ground. The whole flying troop came to a halt, for there ahead of them was a band exactly similar in numbers and appearance to that from which they were galloping. It seemed as if the same troop had been transported by magic across the promontory and placed across the way. The sun shone on the uplifted blade of the leader, reminding the archbishop of the flaming sword that barred the entrance of our first parents to paradise. The leader, with ringing voice that had a touch of menace in it, cried: "My lord archbishop of Treves, the Countess Laurette von Starkenburg invites you to sup with her."

She placed her white hand upon his stirrup.

"Trapped, by heavens!" uttered the elector between his clenched teeth. His eyes sparkled with anger, and the sinister light that shot from them had before now made the emperor quail. He spurred his horse toward the leader, who lowered his sword and bowed to the great dignitary approaching him.

"The Countess von Starkenburg is my vassal," cried the archbishop. "You are her servant, and in much greater degree, therefore, are you mine. I command you to let us pass unmolested on our way. Refuse at your peril."

"A servant," said the man slowly, "obeys the one directly above him, and leaves that one to answer a still superior authority. My men obey me; I take my orders from my lady the countess. If you, my lord, wish to direct the authority which I obey, my lady the countess awaits your pleasure at her castle of Starkenburg."

"What are your orders, fellow?" asked the archbishop in calmer tone.

"To convey your lordship without scathe to the gates of Starkenburg."

"And if you meet resistance, what then?"

"The orders stand, my lord."

"You will, I trust, allow this mendicant monk to pass peaceably on his way to Treves."

"In no castle on the Moselle does even the humblest servant of the church receive a warmer welcome than at Starkenburg. My lady would hold me to blame were she prevented from offering her hospitality to the mendicant."

"Does the same generous impulse extend to each of my followers?"

"It includes them all, my lord."

"Very well. We will do ourselves the honor of waiting upon this most bountiful hostess."

By this time the troop which had first stopped the archbishop's progress came slowly up, and the little body-guard of the elector found themselves hemmed in with 20 men in the front and 20 at their rear, while the rocky precipice rose on one hand and the rapid river flowed on the other. The cortege reformed and trotted gently down the road until it came to a byway leading up the hill. Into this byway the leaders turned, reducing their trot to a walk because of the steepness of the ascent. The archbishop and his men followed, with the second troop of Starkenburg bringing up the rear. His lordship rode at first in sullen silence; then with a quick glance of his eye he summoned the captain to his side. He slipped the ring of office from his finger and passed it unperceived into his officer's hand.

"There will be some confusion at the gate," he said in a low voice. "Escape then if you can. Ride for Treves as you never rode before. Stop not to fight with any. Everything depends on outstripping pursuit. Take what horses you need wherever you find them, and kill them all if necessary, but stop for nothing. This ring will be warrant for whatever you do."

"Tell my general to invest this castle instantly with 10,000 men and to press forward the siege regardless of my fate. Tell him to leave not one stone standing upon another and to hang the widow of Starkenburg from her own blazing timbers. Succeed, and a knight's ransom and the command of 1,000 men await you."

"I will succeed or die, my lord."

"Succeed and live," said the archbishop shortly.

As the horses slowly labored up the zigzagging road the view along the silvery Moselle widened and extended, and at last the strong gray walls of the castle came into sight, with the ample gates wide open. The horsemen in front drew up in two lines on each side of the gates without entering, and thus the archbishop, at the head of his little band, slowly rode first under the archway into the courtyard of the castle.

WILL NOT CENSURE MILES;

Commissioner Refuses to Join in Reproving Report.

Washington, Feb. 6.—President McKinley is inclined to deliberate over the case of Gen. Miles. Secretary Alger and other influences antagonistic to Miles want the case summarily dealt with. They demand a court-martial and that Miles be superseded in command of the army. But the majority of the cabinet approves of the president's conservatism.

Circumstances have multiplied in the last twenty-four hours to convince the president of the wisdom of his course. For instance, a hitch has arisen in the war-investigating commission over its report and at least one member has refused to join in a statement reflecting upon Gen. Miles. The name of this member cannot be learned, but he is supposed to be Evan P. Howell.

From all the conflicting stories one fact coming out prominently is that the president will move in deference to public sentiment. He will await the report of the war-investigating commission, of the various boards of survey and the result of the special investigation being conducted by the agricultural department to determine the condition of the meat furnished to the army.

Meanwhile the report of the court of inquiry will be forming and when it is all over the result will probably be a vindication, so far as official reports can give it, of the man who furnished the meat.

Senator Hanna has taken up the fight for the meat packers against Gen. Miles.

COL. SEXTON DEAD.

Commander-in-Chief of the G. A. R. Expires at Washington.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—After several weeks of suffering, combating the assaults of a complication of diseases, Col. James A. Sexton of Chicago, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic and a member of the war investigating committee, expired at the Garfield hospital, Washington, at 3:15 Sunday morning.

The remains were placed on the 7:30 o'clock train over the Pennsylvania road for Chicago last night, accompanied by Mrs. Sexton and her son Stephen and many friends of the family.

President Expresses Sympathy.

Washington, Feb. 6.—The death of Col. James A. Sexton, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, was not unexpected, as the physicians had given up all hope of his recovery. There was much sympathy expressed for Mrs. Sexton. President McKinley sent flowers from the white house to be laid on the casket and a note expressing his condolences. Secretary Alger went to Garfield hospital to express his regret in person as soon as he learned of Col. Sexton's death. He also sent a handsome floral tribute.

MINERS MAY DIE OF WANT.

Cannot Leave Camp at Independence, Col., and Food and Fuel Are Low.

Aspen, Col., Feb. 6.—The situation at the mining camp of Independence, eighteen miles from here, is critical in the extreme. Starvation stares the inhabitants of the town in the face.

Provisions and fuel supplies are nearly exhausted. Wood that had been cut and piled up for winter use lies buried under many feet of snow and cannot be reached. The mines there, in all probability, must now close down until spring.

Roads leading to this town, the only source of supply for Independence, are impassable and the only method of journeying between the two places is on snowshoes, an exceedingly dangerous method of travel.

The storm still rages fiercely at Independence, making the outlook more gloomy. Snowslides are so frequent between Aspen and Independence that it is almost suicidal to venture over the route.

Dangers of the Grip

The greatest danger from la grippe is of its resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for la grippe we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that this remedy is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. It will cure la grippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by People's Drug Co., corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

If the Baby Be Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use the old and well tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

The Acorn and Jewett.

Steel Ranges we have always sold and they have lived up to the reputation accorded them by their makers for good qualities.

A New Steel Range

That is going to lead them all we have just put into stock—the Mason & Davis M. & D. Columbia Range. It is so good that the United States government selected it from all the other makes for use on battleships. The Maine was equipped with M. & D. Ranges, and the Iowa, Oregon, and a number of other war dogs use them. There are more good points about this range than any we ever saw and the price is no stronger than on other steel ranges. It's worth seeing.
